Penny Lamy and her grandson Phoenix Smith play a virtual capture the flag game at Joel Weeks Park Saturday afternoon during a test study of Mobility Games. Mobility Games allows players in power wheelchairs and scooters to play through the use of GPS-enabled smartphones. The project is part of research being done by Centennial College, Ryerson and Bridgepoint Active Healthcare into inclusive technologies. Below, Carmen Branje explains the rules of the game to Brenda Henderson. Right, Judith Snow plays the capture the flag game.
